

Britt Gardens, July 11 - 13, 2015

Local heroes are special guests at this year's Children's Festival

The Storytelling Guild's 49th Annual Children's Festival will be held July 11 through 13, at the beautiful Britt Gardens in Jacksonville. For generations, the festival has provided fun-filled summer days of affordable entertainment for the whole family!

The theme this year is "Heroes Unite," and the festival will celebrate the super powers and extraordinary talents that exist in our imaginations, in our community, and all around us. Children are encouraged to wear superhero items to the festival to help us celebrate the heroes in all of us!

Children and adults will enjoy over 35 booths with hands-on arts, crafts and science projects. All activities are included with the price of admission! Older children will enjoy activities such as candle-making, pottery and woodworking, while younger children will have a chance to make their own puppet, sand and easel art, and have their faces painted. In addition to our fun hands-on projects, you can sit back and enjoy storytelling, child-focused entertainment, and stage performances.

Special guests.

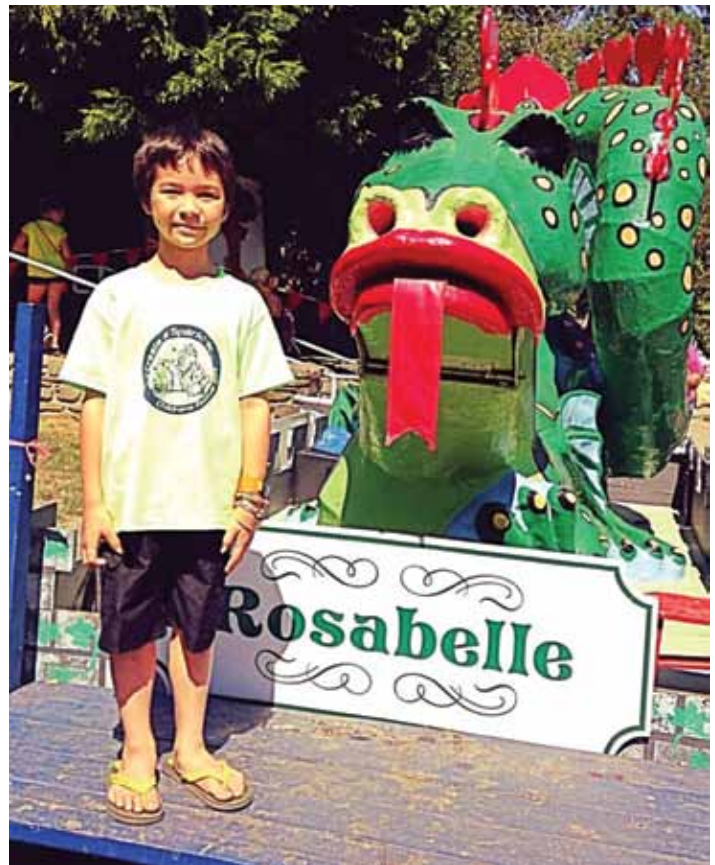

Heroes come in all shapes and sizes and this year we will be inviting and honoring local heroes that make a difference in our community and help keep us safe. They will be reading stories to the children and will be a wonderful addition to this year's festival. Come shake their hands and tell them "thank you."

Admission is $3 per person per day for adults and children.

Food is available for purchase inside the festival at our yummy Dragon Deli. The Storytelling Guild's goal, as always, is to offer an amazing day of entertainment and education at a reasonable price!

The mission of The Storytelling Guild and Children's Festival is to expose children of all ages to the magic of imagination and to instill a love of books and the joy of reading.
